The future of retail is... freedom

By Diane Palmquist – Group Global CEO, Flooid

Like many of our global clients, Flooid has been on an intense, challenging journey in recent years. The pandemic, digital disruption, demographic changes and issues such as sustainability pushed our customers to accelerate innovation and evolve faster than they ever previously thought possible. We've been with them every step of the way.

Together we've experienced a lot. We've learned that the unexpected and even the unthinkable can happen. We've seen that shopping journeys and customer preferences can alter – sometimes for good – within just a few short hours. And above all, we've been reminded that when change is a constant, it pays to be open, agile and ready to take advantage of the opportunities ahead.

In this time, at Flooid we've built capabilities that give retailers and their customers complete flexibility. We've shared a platform that's ready to adapt and evolve for the uncertain future ahead. Smoothed the way for retailers to maintain freedom to choose, innovate and win. And mapped a path for shoppers to shop their way, from anywhere, using their preferred channels.

If you'd like to create a retail operation with freedom at the core, we'd love to hear from you.

Diane Palmquist

Delivering ahead of schedule for Hudson

Hudson shaved five months off new POS deployment with Floid — mid-pandemic.

“We were already on a very demanding timeline to implement the system across more than 2,000 points of sale in the U.S. and Canada when the pandemic caught us. But we looked beyond the crisis and took advantage of it. Now we are going to finish ahead of time with a full deployment across all of our operations by the end of October. That will be 10 months from when we completed our pilot at the end of last year. We were expecting it to take closer to 15 months at best.”

“Due to the pandemic, we couldn’t get people in the same room to be safely trained. Working with the Floid team, we were able to digitise the delivery of the software and the installation and implementation of the software, as well as to create learning solutions so that we could take 90% of the training online.”
